

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Encoded data are transmitted with ultra-wideband (UWB) signals and a corresponding security key is transmitted through an infrared (IR) channel, to provide a 5 secure method for transmitting a relatively large amount of data. The received security key is used by the receiver to decode the received data.